"A bird may be known by its song"

The proverb, "A bird may be known by its song" means you can know a person by what they do and say. A bird's song tells what kind of bird it is. In the same way, a person's actions show their true character. You cannot know someone just by looking at them. You must listen and watch.

For example, a person, who consistently helps others and speaks with kindness is often a good person.

In conclusion, our true self is not defined by our words alone, but by the consistent pattern of our behavior. To truly know someone, we must listen to the "song" they sing through their actions.
